

POETRY.

A Poem composed by Mrs. B. to the Russian Bible Society, in allusion to the words, Is. xxviii. 29, "This also cometh forth from the Lord of Hosts, who is wonderful in counsel, and excellent in working."

We hail the grand eventful day,
That sent the Bible far away,
Where heil, all trembling with dismay,
Must feel what God is working.

And next congratulating you,
Who such great zeal for God did shew,
As put your hand unto the plough,
To aid when God is working. Luke ix. 62.

Though he as Sovereign, in his way
May throw the battle-axe away,
There's nothing can his progress stay,
His hand is ever working. Rev. i. 6.

The two-edged sword gone from his mouth,
The word of his eternal truth,
Now cuts its way from north to south.
A strong engine for working. Rev. i. 16.

Though he the sword of war may drop,
To mix no more the bitter cup,
He takes his sacred hammer up,
And carries on his working. Jer. xxiii. 29.

This weapon marvellous things can do,
In piercing soul and spirit through,
And breaks the rock in pieces too,
When God the Spirit's working. Heb. iv. 12.

Not with the war's confused noise,
But charming with the still small voice,
It batters down the tower of vice
That hell hath long been working. 2 Cor. x. 4, 5.

And blest'd be God that Britain's spared,
Who 'fore for judgment seem'd prepar'd,
Till 'gainst hell she hath declar'd,
By such a godlike working.

What but his influences sweet,
Could such vast differing views unite,
And make you all in concord meet,
And join your hands in working.

See rugged prejudice give way,
Like darkness at the break of day;
O! what a marvellous grand display
That God himself is working!

The glory of the latter days
Is darting forth some feeble rays;
With Britain's sons unite your lays
To God for what he's working.

The Laplander, and sun-burnt Moor,
Thro' streets of gold may take a tour,
And forth their loud hosannas pour,
To God for what he's working.

Perhaps with you by turns they'll meet,
With all their hearts in love unite,
And greet you in their accents sweet,
As God's blest means for working.

And blest be God our lot hath been
In days which prophets few have seen,
And that he chose you as the mean
To sound his glorious working.

April 9. JOEL HALL.

To the Honorable Justices of the Circuit Court of Common Pleas, begun and holden at Portland within and for the County of Cumberland on the first Tuesday of March A. D. 1816.

THE Petition of Robert W. Knight, administrator on the estate of THOMAS MANN, late of Portland, aforesaid, mariner, deceased, and guardian to William Mann, and Rachel Mann, minors and children of said deceased, humbly shews that the goods and chattels of said deceased are not sufficient to pay the debts of said deceased, by the sum of eighty-seven dollars and forty cents, there being demands against the said estate, besides what he has paid, for Taxes and charges of his last sickness, to the amount of one hundred and fifty one dollar and three cents. That a guardian to the said Minor, there is due to him one hundred and forty-five dollars and eighty-five cents for their support which sum after deducting the personal estate of said deceased, being $145.42 amount to two hundred and thirty three dollars and twenty five cents. It is therefore necessary that a part of the real estate of said deceased which consists of the one half of a dwelling house, and lot of Land in said Portland appraised at six hundred dollars, should be sold for payment of said demands, but by a partial sale the residue thereof would be greatly injured. He therefore, in his said capacity of administrator, prays that your honors would grant him licence to sell the whole of the said real estate agreeably to a law in such cases made and provided—and that he, as a guardian to said children may be availed of the sum due to him as aforesaid—and as in duty bound will pray.
